«Pilots of the Daydreams deliver a powerful and expressive sound. The band's musical cosmos is a sonic hybrid of modern, heavy and progressive rock with spherical and energetic arrangements with distinctive and versatile vocals. The music is not fast food, but 'handmade' with a long-term effect for rock enthusiasts - organic, unpolished and authentic - that's how rock'n'roll should sound! The band's credo is: Pilots of the Daydreams are a reason to change the heart rate, raise the pulse and flood the veins of the audience with soulful rock.»

SCHALL.

Sometimes there are guitar parts reminiscent of U2. Marco Predicatori's voice is wonderfully interspersed with a raspy tone that makes the songs 'Closer To The Sky' and 'Lost Brotherhood' in particular real hits on the album.

ROCKNEWS.CH

'Angels Are Real' contains exactly ten tracks that could be described as classic rock - without a second guitar and keyboards, but powerful and technically advanced. This applies to both the songwriting and the musical execution.

Radio
Munot

No wonder they have already sat down on Radio Munot's rock sofa to answer questions. Once again, good rock music from Switzerland that's worth buying!

What I hear is well-played rock that reminds me of Muse in songs like 'Picture Of My Sins'. There are musical parallels with bands like R.E.M. and U2.
